

DETAILS OF THE RAILROAD ACCIDENT ON THE T. & T.

Life of Engineer Is Snuffed Out Instantly While Fireman Badly Burned About Body.

Complete details of the accident on the Tonopah and Tidewater railroad yesterday morning that cost the life of the engineer on the northbound passenger train, are given in the following article taken from this morning's issue of the Goldfield Tribune. In the article that appeared in last evening's Bonanza the details were lacking, as it was impossible to secure the necessary information. However, the following gives every detail:

Making an extra run to oblige a fellow employee yesterday, cost Engineer David McEntee, 58 years of age, his life, when the boiler of the northbound Tonopah and Tidewater train exploded about three miles north of Beatty. The life of McEntee was snuffed out instantly, while his fireman, F. Cadd, was seriously injured. Cadd was struck by a flying piece of metal and in addition sustained severe scalds about the head and right forearm through contact with the escaping steam.

The accident occurred at 5:40 o'clock and was one of the most remarkable disasters on record, in that though the boiler exploded and was not only torn from its base, but was hurled 150 feet ahead of the point where the train stopped, not a passenger was aware of anything out of the ordinary until the trainmen made the announcement.

Out on the desert 150 yards from the train lay the steam gauge from the engine, while 100 yards away in another direction lay the air compressor tank.

The body of the dead engineer was found lying alongside the train and Conductor Teer did not notice it in the darkness until he had stumbled over it while running to the engine to discover the cause of the trouble. Lying on the gangway, with his head and face horribly cut and bruised, was Fireman Cadd.

One of the brakemen, discovering a small blaze at the mouth of the broken feed pipe running from the oil tank, crawled under the dismantled engine and turned off the valve, thus preventing the spread of the flames to the balance of the train.

Division headquarters was notified immediately of the accident, and while General Agent W. W. Keith and the wrecker were being rushed from Goldfield to the scene of the wreck, General Manager Cahill was speeding northward from Ludlow at the rate of sixty miles an hour. The latter was first to arrive at the scene of the wreck and the train was pulled back into Beatty, where the injured fireman was given medical attention.

As rapidly as possible the track was cleared and a quick run made to Goldfield in order that the injured fireman might be placed in St. Mary's hospital. The body of the dead engineer was also brought to Goldfield and removed to the undertaking establishment of Thomas Dunn to be prepared for burial.

Mrs. McEntee, wife of the dead man, who resides in Ludlow, was notified of his death and will arrive here tomorrow. In addition to his widow, the dead engineer is survived by three children.

It is understood that dances may be held every month, and if this proves so the winter will be full of enjoyment for those who reside permanently at the hostelry.

"THE BUM AND THE BOMB" IS A REAL COMEDY

A DISTINCTION WITH A DIFFERENCE IS THE FEATURE FILM

Another swell program will be shown at the Butler this evening. Four pictures are on the bill. "A Modern Courtship," comedy; "The Bum and the Bomb," comedy; "The Other Way," comedy, and a big western feature drama entitled, "A Western Woman's Way." This subject is a western drama which contains much life and represents in many ways a type of picture which an audience likes and watches with interest. The Essanay people perform their parts with discretion and an understanding of the requirements not possessed by all players who attempt western plays. One must see this picture to appreciate it. PROCLAMATION CHANGES AREA OF TOiyabe FOREST

New Survey Results In Elimination of Portion of Old Area While Over 3000 Acres Are Added.

Special to the Bonanza
WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—The president has signed a proclamation eliminating 65,755 acres from the Toiyabe national forest, in Nevada, and adding to it 31,793 acres. These changes are the result of a careful field examination made by the United States department of agriculture in pursuance of a general plan for the correction of all the national forest boundaries.

The areas eliminated comprise, for the most part, narrow strips of valley land along the bases of the mountain ranges. These strips had been put within the forest limits by reason of the fact that the land in question was mostly unsurveyed at the time of the original examination.

The additions comprise narrow strips of timbered lands along the bases of the Toiyabe, Desatoya, Toquima and Monitor ranges. These lands have been found upon examination to be covered with a sufficiently good stand of juniper and pinon to warrant inclusion within the forest.

By executive order the president has transferred the Gillis mountains division from the Mono national forest to the Toiyabe. This area is located north and northeast of Lansing.

The unappropriated portions of the lands eliminated by this proclamation will be restored to settlement and entry after they shall have been advertised in the local papers by the secretary of the interior.

Mr. Shemanski is a thorough jeweler and is one of the greatest newspaper advertisers in Goldfield. With his advent into this district there is doubt that he would be liberally patronized, for he would make an attempt to go after and secure the business, instead of letting the business come to him.

JACK BURNS IS CHALLENGED

Jack Burns, the former Goldfield pugilist and aspirant for the world's championship honors, met with a rude crushing in London town the other day. He had no sooner landed in England's metropolis than he was challenged to meet Bill Lang, formerly the holder of the Australian championship. He accepted the defy, and the result is best told in the following account of the mill:

"Jack Burns, the California heavyweight, was so badly beaten by Bill Lang, the former holder of the Australian heavyweight championship, in their scheduled 20-round bout at the Olympia on Monday last, that the referee stopped the fight in the twelfth round to save Burns from further punishment and awarded the decision to Lang.

ifornian was a great disappointment. Lang had the lead at all stages and sent Burns to the floor several times.

"In the first round Lang started with a good left to the body. The round ended with a clinch. In the second, Lang floored Burns near the end, but the gong saved him. The third was all Lang. The American took a lot of punishment, but managed to stay. In the fourth Burns revived a little, but remained on the defensive. He was forced again in the fifth. Lang had things his own way in the sixth, but in the seventh honors were about even. Burns was very wobbly in the eighth, ninth and tenth. The Californian took the count again in the eleventh. When he came to the center of the ring in the twelfth he was so groggy that the referee, urged by the crowd, stopped the fight and awarded the decision to Lang on points.
